Report on 'Google Forms & QR Code-An Introduction'

One day workshop was organized on 'Google Forms and QR Code – An Introduction' in MIT College of Railway Engineering & Research, Barshi on 28th February, 2018. On this occasion Dr. Atul Ayare, Principal MITCORER, Dr. Nilesh Bahadure, Workshop Co-ordinator, were present on dais. Welcome note was delivered by Dr. Atul Ayare. Speaker of the workshop was introduced by Prof. Vikas Ganiger.

While addressing to the workshop, Dr. Nilesh Bahadure explained the history, generation of QR code and its application in easing day-to-day life. He also spoke about how Google Forms could be created and used for the purpose of survey and database generation. The theory session was followed by practical where each participant was given task of generation of QR code and Google form. Dr. Bahadure also enlighten about Google forms as - it is used for managing event registrations, create a quick opinion poll, and much more. With Google forms one can create and analyze surveys right in your mobile or web browser without the support of any software. One can get instant results as they come in and can summarize survey results at a glance with charts and graphs.

The workshop was compered by Mr. Mohit Lakhara and Mr. Gulshan Kumar Naidu. Vote of thanks presented by Dr. Ajam Shaikh. Technical assistance was offered by Prof. Akhil Saya and Prof. Vishal Nikam. All the faculties, non-teaching staff and students were involved and worked for the success of the program.
